CALGARY EDITORS BOOST

Here is the editorial boost two Calgary editors gave this district upon their return from Gleichen last week:

A GOOD BUSINESS TONIC

Calgary Herald:

It would be well if all Calgary could be taken out to see what is being done in the irrigation section east of Calgary.
No project ever undertaken in Western Canada has had to survive as many knocks as the C.P.R. irrigation scheme and certainly no project has ever more completely survived them.

If anyone five years ago had predicted that in 1907 the country about Gleichen would be dotted with farm houses and the landscape divided into fields of grain and areas of new-plowed soil, he would have been laughed at as a dreamer. Yet so it is. Although the colonization project of the Canadian Pacific Railway is still in its early stages the change from even two years ago is nothing short of wonderful. Towns and villages are springing into life. Elevators are being built with grain and more elevators must soon be built. Farms are being tilled, crops are being garnered, preparations for bigger things next year are going on.
The entire district throbs with prosperous agricultural activity.

Already the country just east of Calgary presents a busier scene along the line of railway than any district west of Moose Jaw. And it has only just begun to awaken. Another five years will see that country a garden of industry, producing a wide variety of the safest and most profitable crops in Western Canada.
Another ten years, or perhaps much less, will see it served by electric lines which will convey passengers and produce to the railway and into this city. The future of the irrigation district is a bright augury of the future of Calgary and the best tonic a business man can take is to run out through the country from Strathmore to Gleichen and see what can be accomplished by energy, perseverance and an abiding faith in the agricultural greatness of Sunny Southern Alberta.

A REVELATION IN AGRI- CULTURE

Calgary Albertan:

We complain of the ignorance of old country people about Calgary and of the ignorance of the easterner about the west. But it is no more alarming than the ignorance of the average Cal-garian about what is going on right about him. Not one person in ten realizes the development that is being done within one hundred miles of this city. Greater changes are being made in that district and more rapidly than in any other part of the country.

Any person coming into Alberta five years ago through having faith in the district, would not have regarded its immediate surroundings as having any direct bearing upon its ultimate future.

Any person who investigates conditions from here to Gleichen must come to the conclusion that this vast district has a very direct and very important bearing upon the future of the city.

But Calgary people are not aware either of the extent of the district, or the value of the district. This is as much to be condemned as the ignorance of Britishers about Canada.

Calgarians should take a careful look through Gleichen and the district between Gleichen and Calgary and when they go east they will have a brighter story to tell about the future of the Calgary district.

Religion that controls one's own hand can easily convince another's head.

DID IT EVER OCCUR TO YOU?

Were you ever the victim of an ennumerable list of things you wondered why you went on living? Of course you were—

Nothing to do but work;
Nothing to eat but food;
Nothing to wear but clothes;
To keep one from going nude;
Nothing to breathe but air; Quick as a flash it's gone;
Nowhere to fall but off; Nowhere to stand but on;
Nothing to comb but hair; Nowhere to sleep but in bed;
Nothing to weep but tears;
Nothing to bury but dead;
Nothing to sing but songs;
Ah, well; alas! alack!
Nowhere to go but out;
Nowhere to come but back; Nothing to see but sights; Nothing to quench but thirst; Nothing to have but what we've got;
Thus through life we're hurried, N thing to strike but a gait; Everything moves that goes; Nothing at all but common sense Can ever withstand these woes.—Ex.

Eulogy of the Dog

It was a speech of Senator Vert, made before a jury when he had been retained as the attorney of a man whose dog had been shot by a neighbor. The plaintiff demanded $200. When Vert finished speaking the jury awarded $500 without leaving their seats. The speech in full is as follows: "The best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with tender care may prove ungrateful. A man's wife is nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps, when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a disconsidered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is the dog. Gentlemen of the jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he can be near his master's side. He will lick the hand that has no food to offer; he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his master's head as if he were a prince.
When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies, and when the last scene of all arrives, and death takes the master in its embrace, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by the graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but open in alert watchfulness—faithful, even unto death."

A borrowed suit rarely ever fits well.
Haste often trips up its own heels.

What you don't need is dear at any price.

By the east window of every life grow thorns.

Men blush over things they are not ashamed to do.

OBSERVATIONS

BY "LITTLE NACK"

Money is made in the arts and sciences; is honestly made by manual toil from the land of Siberian snows to the Torrid Zone. Wealth is accumulated in commercial arenas, by selling dry-goods and wet goods, by loaning funds garnered through enervating labor that bathes the human face in perspiration, that brings gray hairs early, and leaves toilers little time to enjoy the fruits of their endeavors. Vast fortunes are lost by the burning of valuable forests of soft and hard timber. A dearth of rain throughout the country any season puts people financially in peril because without water crops will fail. When crops fail railway securities go tumbling down the route of disaster and calamity spreads over the land.

However industrious a people may be, destiny often upsets their plans; depletes their pocket books and spreads gloom throughout the channels where they have intercourse in a business way.

The best investment one can make is in himself. A man who spends his time and money in increasing his own earning capacity will get the very best of dividends. Money expended in education in its broad sense, that is in perfecting one's own powers will give a better income than that obtained in any other way. The most secure income one can have is an income through one's own earnings. Someone has humorously said that 99 per cent. of those who go into business make a failure of it and the remaining 1 per cent. sell out to the trusts for what they can get. Although this is rather a witty manner of putting it the fact still remains that official statistics place the business enterprises which turn out to be failures at over 90 per cent. This is a surprising condition of affairs when one reflects upon it. It means that only one man in ten that goes into business succeeds in making it pay and that the other 9 lose their time and efforts as well as the money they invest.

In my humble way of thinking every man is a stranger to his greatest strength, his mightiest power, until the test of a great responsibility, a critical emergency or a supreme crisis in his life calls it out. A friend of mine gave utterance to the following beautifully expressed sentiments in responding to the toast "Laughter" at a recent banquet,—

"There is to laughter, the sunshine of the soul, the happiness of the heart, the leaving of youth, the privilege of purity, the echo of innocence, the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the bed on the cup of pleasure; it dispels dejection, banishes blues, mingles melancholy; for it is the foe of woe, the destroyer of depression, the enemy of grief; it is what kings envy peasants, plutocrats envy the poor, and the guilty envy the innocent; it is the sheen on the waters of delight, the glint on the gold of gladness; without it humor would be dumb, wit would wither, dimples would disappear and smiles would shrivel, for it is the glow of a clean conscience, the voice of a pure soul, the birth cry of mirth, the swan song of gladness."

M. McDONALD.

AFTER A CAREFUL STUDY OF THE GRAIN MARKET

BY J. O. H. MCGOY

I have made several trips into the farming districts of Gleichen at different stages of the harvest season and I think the farmers have much reason for rejoicing instead of looking so despondent. It is true that the frost has done considerable damage, but after all "every cloud has its silver lining" and while it would be nice to have the large crop, at the same time low prices would likely prevail, then on the other hand the frost has made the crops much lighter but the high prices of all grades of grain make up for the lack of crop and now the farmers will get just about as much money for their crops and have less hauling to do.

I have made a great many inquiries as to prices and grades from all parts of Canada and think that I can offer prices equal to any that are quoted. I have asked several of the more successful and experienced farmers about their idea of shipping to the elevators for storage and they all express the same idea that after taking into consideration the short legs, the interest on the money

C. Fred Telford has issued invitations should come to Gleichen.

Carpenters arrived yesterday from Calgary and started work on a flat house

Geese and ducks have been brought in Gleichen's new school building is badly needed as the present school is now over crowded and four scholars who have just arrived in town had to be turned away on Monday. There is some talk of temporarily renting the Foresters Hall and adding another teacher, which would relieve the situation until the new school is built.

D. C. Wishart has been good to The Call the past week and presented at this office a goose and several ducks, the result of a few hours sport on the sloughs.

Mr. Emil Griesbach, with his usual enterprise went to Calgary on Saturday and accompanied Sir Thomas on his special train to Gleichen.

An effort should be made to induce the C. P. R. to enlarge and improve the Gleichen stock yards. They are sadly in need of some improvements.
The yards at Stobart are in better condition, but at that point there is no public accommodation for the men and when they have to wait for cars or for any other reason they must depend upon the hospitality of the farmers near by, who also complain that they prefer not to be so inconvenienced.

FIRE ENGINES TESTED AND ACCEPTED

Robt. S. Bickle, who sold to Gleichen last April two Oshkosh & Loyer chemical fire engines, arrived Monday from Winnipeg and on Tuesday gave a test of the engines. A good crowd of citizens were present to witness the test, which resulted in general approval, if one may judge from the applause.

A structure about 15 feet high was erected on Crowfoot street, nearly opposite the Gleichen Hotel, which was filled with boxes, straw, etc., and then a pile of coal oil was thrown over it and set on fire. Meanwhile Chief T.
H. Beach had his fire brigade in line and running from below C. J. Bray's store they reached the fire when it had got so hot that the onlookers were crowding back on the side walk opposite.
So quickly did the chemicals act when turned on that a clear burst from the crowd. After the flames were well under control the fire was allowed to burn up freely again and was again extinguished. An exhibition was given showing that a stream could be thrown higher than the Gleichen Hotel.
